

Greenling

I think it could be a picture of the world war II and how I know is that I think it is a tunnel and that links back to world war II and how I know with my memory that they use to camp there and stay there so then the tunnels were intoxicated and they didn't know so they somehow died 1 by 1 the worst thing is that the hospitals were the took people when they were sick was there and we know that it was intoxicated so they die there in the hospital I think the flower grew their ass a person from the war planted t to find their way back here and collect all the supplies but may have died in that very tunnel so the flower turned green as it was near all those dead bodies and poison.